Forget – Me – Not Ball

Saturday 15th July 2006

The West Wing, Ickworth House

Commencing 6.30pm with Reception on the Lawn

The Forget-Me-Not Ball Committee, dedicated to fundraising for cancer charities, invites you to a very special event.

Our inspiration has been, and will always be, our most extraordinary friend, Rhona Damant, a young mother of two who is battling terminal cancer with courage, dignity and determination. Rhona has written a book about her experience and her story has been told in an award winning documentary. She has had the honour of being presented to the Queen in recognition of her fund-raising work. But now she has decided with the time she has left the battle has to be for prevention and to stop the disease from happening in the first place.

Therefore, funds raised from this year’s event will be donated to an organisation dedicated to the prevention of breast cancer. Breast Cancer UK and the No More Breast Cancer Campaign believe environmental factors are linked to the disease. By raising public awareness on this, they aim to see the elimination of harmful substances that can contribute to breast cancer.

The evening will comprise welcoming speech, musical entertainment, raffle and auction

I would like ............... tickets at £75.00 each. Or ............... a table/s of 10 at £700.00.
